DEDICATION

You were always there
When we needed you,
Washing windows,
 lifting ladders,
 mopping and mowing
— wearing a smile.
Although you were often unnoticed by us,
You cared enough
To serve us well.
Meeting emergencies,
 cleaning up for us,
And working till six,
Never seemed to get you down.

Thanks for serving humbly, willingly,
 and skillfully,
Opening the doors
Of each new day
With the key of friendliness.
L.M.H.
Couldn't be the same without you.
For this we dedicate
The 1975 Laurel Wreath
To you; Mr. Robert Miller.

We sprouted from years of persecution.
God cultivated and strengthened our fragile beginning, urging us to grasp a strong faith in Him and His word.

"TEACH ME THY WAY, O LORD"

We unfold
under the tender care of the Father;
refined with His tools of tears and laughter; molded into a perfect vessel for His use.

As we yield to His will, we see other lives, reach out and touch them, feeling the pulsebeat of unity, that binds us together.

We come into deeper communion with each other and God.

Working together to serve Him better,

we become what He had in mind, when He created us in the bud of time.

The God-given Rudder of LMH

"May I have your attention, please, for these announcements?" breaks in the principal's soft-spoken voice over the intercom. Behind that well-modulated voice is a dedicated team working together to raise funds, coordinate student activities, change schedules to everybody's satisfaction, and keep records in ship-shape order. Accommodatingly they push pressing work aside, giving us their whole attention as we drop in with frustrations, complaints, or excitement. With years of experience and insight, they nurture us in becoming.

A Look Into Ourselves

God's Word. The foundation for our way of life. In the team-taught course of the Christian Church — Its History and Literature, we followed the Bible's pathway and influence since its beginning. Christian Service Preparation involved us in serving Jesus through out-of-school work.

In all Bible classes, basic Bible truths and inspiration for the Christian walk were uniquely bound together.

Pathway to Other Lands

A key to knowing and understanding others. Entering Rooms 208 and 209 we find ourselves in a German, French, or Spanish atmosphere, learning the cultures of other peoples as we struggle to master their language by using it daily in class conversations.

Finding out about others gives us new insight into ourselves, revealing that deep down inside, we all are the same.

Different Places — Different Times

Learning about people from other cultures and from other times. That's what Social Studies is. It is also doing individual research for Senior Social Science; looking at Economics and Dollars and Sense from the Christian perspective of stewardship; seeing relations in the team taught courses such as Sociology and Literature of Social Issues; visiting a Philadelphia museum to get authentic views of World Cultures; or digging, locally, into the culture of Lancaster County.

Search for Facts

The world around us. Its wonders and mysteries. Why does it function the way it does? In the study of science we find answers to many questions that puzzle us about the created world. Biology students analyzed the ecosystem of a New Jersey bog, and astronomy students shivered through cold winter star-gazings. Meteorology, a new course this year, taught us the how and why of snowstorms, rain, wind, and sunshine.

Math, an extension of science allows us to see through these answers more clearly. Mathematics Enrichment introduced us to the modern electronic computer.

Cruise Into Imagination

Whatsoever things are true, lovely, . . . We think on these things in English, Art, and Music classes. We look into ourselves, learning to express our thoughts in words, painting, or song. From a variety of electives we may choose to read Literature of the American Minorities or to identify with others in Moments of Decision. In a new course, Mennonites and the Fine Arts, we discover our past creativeness and join in the celebration of presenting our faith artistically. Freshmen were required to explore Art and Music for one semester.

Using Our Hands

A hit here, a stitch there, and soon the product takes shape. Our tools are glass, clay, the lathe and the sewing machine.

Shop and Home Ec teach us to use our hands, giving us a head start into the world of employment and family responsibilities. Home Ec for Boys unexpectedly gained popularity in its first year offered.

Getting Down to Business

As our beginners struggled to keep up with the music's rhythm, our advanced typists thundered away, taking dictation and typing business letters. Bookkeeping involved computing payrolls and setting up budgets, while students in accounting studied single proprietorships, corporations, and partnerships.

Agricultural students gained skills in animal nutrition and breeding, soil testing, and forest conservation.

Information Experts

The helping hands in our school. At the beck-and-call of teachers and students, they rush here and there. Passes need signing. Tests need to be typed at the last minute. Dates, figures, and magazine titles are on the tip of their tongues. Projectors and films need scheduling. Letters are written . . . 1, 2, 3 . . . How do they manage to keep their cool?

Fitness: Body and Mind

Buzz! The bell rings and we all run. It's time for Phys. Ed. Hustling out to the old gym and casting longing eyes at the new gym, we know that for the next 45 minutes we will have a lot of fun competing in games like football, softball, volleyball, and soccer.

For a change of pace, health gives insight on how our bodies respond to our environment.

Slam on the brakes! Stunning movies, in the classroom and exciting experiences on the road make us good drivers — that is, it should!

Keepers at Home

Teachers, brothers, friends. At least that's what they should be, and at L.M.H. they are. The center of our small abode, they keep us straight and lend a hand in guiding us as we grow. They shout, they growl, they snore, they smile. Like Mom and Dad, they really care.

Service With Joy

Behind the scenes they give of their energy and time. Our campus is kept physically fit as the fix-it men appear here and there mending shades, replacing light bulbs, and unclogging stubborn drains. With smiles on their faces and spoons in their hands, the cooks fill our trays with Mennonite-style cooking. Although it isn't easy to satisfy our different tastes, they make a terrifically good effort. If you take a peep into the kitchen during meal preparations, you'll also hear plenty of friendly banter and laughter.

CLASSES

Seniors

Seniors were confronted with new responsibilities as they assumed their role as "big brother" and "big sister". They worked and waited twelve long years for the day of graduation. Now in 1975, they are the first class to have the opportunity to graduate in the new auditorium-gymnasium. Facing the future with mixed emotions and various expectations, they seek God's presence to guide them.

What's it like to be a senior?

"There's no one to look up to anymore!"

"Wow! I'm really a senior!"

"Being a senior brings new responsibilities!"

"No more years to go!"

Dear Underclassmen,

It is with many memories that we leave. For as we look back on the past four years, we realize that, in growing together as a class, we have widened our friendships to include those who must remain; and it is those friends that we will miss.

Say the word "Junior" and what do you think of? Girls and guys finding maturity? A class anxiously awaiting its senior year? Fund raising responsibilities for '75 and '76? The first pig roast in LMH history? Instead of trying to see juniors ourselves, why don't we get them to lend us a hand!

To the Class of '75,

I think I'll miss you guys. It's really exciting to have a couple of big seniors come up to you and start pushing you around. You do it, I'm sure, to try and make us little underclassmen look bad. But actually you make fools out of yourselves, because it makes us feel really important to be pushed by a SENIOR.

You guys make the most trouble, but I don't know where we'd be without you. You are usually the most mature kids around and in most cases set a pretty good example for the underclassmen. Thanks a lot for a great year.

Dear Seniors,

As petals are yet imperfect 'til joined as one; so are people.

Perhaps you've helped to join us, to bring out the beauty that lay somewhere hidden inside each of us to perfect us by simply being here and being yourself.

You were a listening heart when we wanted someone to confide in, and, yet, because you weren't our equals, you were a heavy drape covering the window of communication.

You're going now — maybe forever . . . but somewhere deep inside of us a conglomerate of memories will remain — some beautiful and some sad.

Dear Seniors,

There we'll be. Standing at your grave, or rather, on top of it. Because you are dead, we'll now have arrived. We won't have to look wistfully at announcements labeled "Attention Seniors" anymore. So, in a way, standing on your grave will give us a feeling of triumph.

But, like everyone else does at a grave, we'll probably be crying. The tears that fall first on your tombstone will fall for friendship's sake. We'll cry for the times that our hearts laughed and cried together, the times that you were the someone that we needed. We'll also cry for what you've done for our school. The fingerprints you've put onto our lockers, the footprints you've placed in our halls.

Thus, we the Juniors, say good-bye to you. Thank you for being what you were, and most of all, thank you for stepping out and letting us take your place.

Rosene and Bonnie check out what's happening in the world today.

Sophomores have found a sense of belonging in their second year at LMH. These "wise fools" known as freshmen a year ago, now have experienced the joys and sorrows of LMH life, building friendships and finding encouragement through them. How do they feel about being a sophomore?

Dear Seniors,
Patterns.
Patterns are kind of funny things.
You look at them, and make yourself like them.
Peers are patterns.
Seniors are patterns.
Some may not think so,
But I as a sophomore do.
We came to school unsure of this big new world.
We looked for someone who knew what he was doing.
And most of the time we found good patterns in you.
Even though there tends to be a grade barrier here,
Many of you "degraded" yourselves to take an interest in us.
That warm smile, that affirmative headshake,
Made our days just a little brighter.
You are interested in the school
And willing to get involved in school projects.
Because of what we have seen in you,
We know a little of what to expect when we become seniors.
We have several more years of "security" at LMH,
But you will soon be going into a different world.
May you have the wisdom to make your decisions,
And the courage to carry them out.
The sophomore class wishes you well.
May God bless you real good.

Freshmen have always been considered the "Low man on the totem pole." Slowly adjusting, making new friends, and striving to serve, they always seem lost in the upper class crowd.

Since they're the ones who are going through the changes, we'll let them speak for themselves.

"Freshmen are liked more by teachers!"

"We freshmen have more time to use the new gym!"

"Being a freshman is scary, but I'm beginning to like it!"

"Don't worry, we're on our way up!"

Dear Seniors,

Thanks to the Senior Class for helping to make our school what it is today. Some of the greatest soccer, hockey, and basketball players came out of your class and dominated the sports world at LMH and also the detention hall.

We wish you lots of luck and hope you will succeed in your future wherever you find God leading you.

ORGANIZATIONS

Laurel Wreath

As a yearbook staff we tried to sum up our school year in 168 pages. Taking picture after picture, we tried to find the ones that would share LMH with others. Putting our heads together to discuss minute details of copy and captions allowed us to appreciate each other's talents.

Frustrations built up as we rushed to meet deadlines, but through it all, we learned the meaning of unity. Depending on each other and God helped us to accept criticism, share ideas, and get to know each other better. Back row: Ed Weaver, Photographer; Lynn Heller, Business Manager.

SPORTS

Soccer

Soccer this year at L.M.H. had its ups and downs after a mid-season slump. As the season progressed, the team learned a great deal about themselves and their teammates. This led to better performances and a good feeling in the end. Giving and taking is what really makes a team. Each game is a new adventure with new challenges. It was these challenges that helped the team grow and that helped others grow.

Esh does his arithmetic while the rest of the team awaits the soccer tournament.

Cross Country

Cross country really outdid itself this year. Losing the first two games of the season didn't dampen the team spirit; they ran hard and came back to win the tournament. There was no super-star bringing in all the points; just long hours of practice, good morale, and brotherhood.

Field Hockey

When you're involved in sports, you have to learn to take the bitter with the sweet. That's what the field hockey team learned to do, and they learned their lesson well. They beat their opponents L.C.D. for the first time in years, and, although they didn't obtain the field hockey trophy, were able to accept the loss well. This brought the team closer together and made them realize that you can't win them all.

Boys' Basketball

Basketball depends on teamwork, and LMH knows it. The guys this year worked hard and got caught up in the spirit of the game. Frustrations? Sure there were some. However, basketball is like life — there are good and bad days. Accepting coaching tips as well as tips from teammates made the team this year.

Girls' Basketball

Suicides, laps, scrimmages, relays are what the girls' basketball team went through to be tough. The team worked together as sisters, affirming each other in prayer and meditation. anyway, so someone has helped me in a lot of things from both sides and taught me that "Patience is a virtue." Never forget Thanksgiving '74 and the trip to Ohio and the snow storm. Don't forget the way home from Farm Show either with Fred, Linford, & Broom. Keep your ante innocent grin. You get by with more that way. Give me time I'll learn how to walk on pavement if its the last thing I do. "Can't win 'em all" ya know. "Keep lookin' up" that's the only way to do things. It's the only strength we can really depend on. Love, Naomi Neither rain nor snow, nor sleet nor hail could stop Mr. Newswanger from taking pictures.

Like a child stretching to meet the three-foot mark on the wall,

So we strove to meet the expectations of our peers and teachers.

We put our hand in God's hand and asked Him to help us become.

He did it lovingly, helping us over the rough spots and brushing us off when we let go of His hand and hurt ourselves.

We couldn't see the distance as we plodded along step by step,

But looking back,
we see how far He brought us.

The road wasn't always easy,
but through His guidance,
we learned to be joyful in the face of frustration.

We are still walking, still growing — reaching towards something we can't see.

All we know is that we must continue to follow Him,
and through faith,
become what He wants us to be.

Although this is the end of a long road, it is the beginning of a new one.

We will continue on the path God shows us, becoming complete in Him.
